Job Creation

EDPR NA's new projects create numerous jobs, supporting hundreds of engineering, environmental, and energy-related positions associated with development, construction, and operation. When possible, EDPR NA works with suppliers and contractors who produce components in North America.

Community Partnerships

EDPR NA conducts the majority of its business in rural communities across 17 U.S. states. Obtaining and maintaining credibility and the trust of landowners, town officials, and other stakeholders is a crucial aspect of building successful wind farms and solar parks. At EDPR NA, our community relationships represent more than business transactions. EDPR NA values its strong relationships with landowners and communities who see the possibilities of conscientious land stewardship, rural economic development, and contributing to a clean energy future.

The property taxes generated by EDPR NA's projects provide revenues for schools, local roads, police, fire protection, and other government services. Additionally, EDPR NA's projects yield economic benefits to communities in the form of direct and indirect jobs, payments to landowners, and increased local spending. EDPR NA purchases many materials and services locally, and employee wages and landowner royalty payments are spent in local communities.
