3.3. Compliance with norms and provisions

The Contractor is under the obligation, on its own responsibility, to manage, arrange and provide for all the final licenses, permits and authorizations required for carrying out its activities in fulfilling the object of the contract, which shall include, for example, all licenses required for the construction works, the transportation permits, approval of the facilities and systems, machinery approval, equipment tests, etc. , with the exception on the Construction Permit that shall be obtained by the Client in its own name, together with all the prior permits and authorisations necessary for the Construction Permit to be issued.

The Contractor is under the obligation to maintain such licenses, permits and authorizations valid for the duration of the Contract.

The Contractor shall strictly comply with all laws, orders and rules, either local, municipal, county, regional or state, which may apply to the operations of the Contractor during the execution of the works or provision of the services included in the scope of the Contract; Furthermore, the Contractor takes on the obligation to indemnify and exempt the Client and its employees and representatives from any liability arising from non-compliance due to actions or omissions, even if this might be required from the Client or its employees.

3.4. Knowledge of the site and complementary documents

For those cases when the execution of the works or the provision of the services is carried out in identified and determined physical areas, it shall be considered that the Contractor has examined the site in order to get to know its conditions.

The Contractor accepts the conditions of said areas and, after the awarding of the contract, no price increase shall be admitted, in any case, to correct errors in the works' cost estimate due to the site's conditions.

Furthermore, the Contractor declares to know the contents of all the documents, plans, specifications and provisions included in the Contract, regarding the performance and/or execution of the contracted work or provision of the contracted service.

3.5. Subcontracting

For executing the works that are object of the Contract, the Contractor is only allowed to subcontract the companies included in the list of sub-contractors and of works to be subcontracted approved by the Client, annexing it to the Contract.

For that, the Contractor shall inform the Client about the main data and characteristics of the subcontractor, about the technical scope of the works it is supposed to carry out, as well as about the bid made by the subcontractor.

The authorization granted by the Client to the Contractor to subcontract any work related to the Contract or order does not imply the establishment of any bond or contractual relationship between the Client and the Subcontractor, and the Contractor shall always be responsible for all the activities of said subcontractors.

The Contractor is under the obligation to inform its Subcontractors about the conditions of the Contract and to send the Client, if it so requires, a copy of the Contract signed by both of them including that information.

The Contractor shall always be liable for all actions of its subcontractors, as well as for the obligations taken in the execution of its works, regardless of their type.

The Contractor shall instruct the employees assigned to provide the contracted services about the conditions for the use of the corporate brand and symbols of the Client.

The Contractor shall be directly responsible for the good image of edp renováveis, used for the fulfilment of the object of the Contract, being under the obligation to maintain in good condition all the material displaying the said brand, at its expense, and if necessary to provide the required maintenance.

Should the Contractor not provide its personal data with regard to the Contractual Purposes, the Client will not be able to execute the Contract with the Contractor.

The processing of the Contractor's personal data with regard to the Legitimate Interest Purposes is carried out pursuant to article 6, letter f) of the EU General Data Protection Regulation No. 679/2016 (the "GDPR"), for the pursuit of the Client legitimate interest, which is adequately balanced with the Contractor's interest since the data processing is performed within the limits strictly necessary to perform such economic activities. This data processing activity is not mandatory and the Contractor can object to the data processing at any time through the procedure set out below. In such case no data processing will be carried out by the Client, except

In case it is necessary for the Contractor to process the personal data under the responsibility of the Client in order to provide the service, the relationship between the Client and Contractor should be regulated by means of a contract that stipulates the rights and obligations of both parties in relation to the processing of the data. The Contractor is deemed to be the "Processor" for these purposes, meaning the natural or legal person, public authority, service or other body which processes personal data on behalf of the Controller (the Client).

For that purpose, both parties should sign a Data Access Agreement that must cover at least the following aspects:

- Subject matter of the contract.
- Term of contract.
- Nature and purpose of processing.
- Activities of processing.
- Type of personal data processed by the Processor
- Categories of data subjects.
- The Processor's level of criticality to be decided after filing a questionnaire to be provided by EDPR.
- Obligations and rights of the Client and of Processor.
- All necessary technical and organisational measures to be adopted in accordance with the GDPR, by ensuring, in particular, a level of security appropriate to the risk and the protection of the rights of data subjects.

3.21. Insurance

For the duration of the contract, the Contractor shall take out and maintain the following insurance policies:

- Third Party Liability Insurance that covers eventual liabilities incurred by the Contractor and/or its subcontractors, for damages and losses of human or material resources affecting the Contractor and its employees, the Client or third parties, due to or as a result of the performance of the contracted scope of works. This insurance shall be taken out and maintained throughout the term of the contract with an insurance company of adequate solvency.

The required coverages within the insurance shall comprise:

- General Liability
- Employer's Liability

- Cross Liability
- Post Works Liability
- Defence or Civil Liability
- Goods (in the case the scope of works involves the delivery of a final good)
- Material and personal damages, as well as consecutive damages derived from them.
- Damages to pre-existing goods or assets.
- Accidental pollution.

This Third Party Liability Insurance shall, under no circumstances, cover less than the specifications informed in the ET101 'Assignment of Civil Liability limits and Policies. All-risk, construction and assembly' or, alternately, the Side Letter annexed to the Request for Proposal, in cases where the complexity of the work requires specific terms.

- All-Risk Construction and Assembly Insurance (in the case of construction works contracts) covering material damages and/or losses occurred during the construction or assembly works, including material damages to equipment and machinery used during these works. The minimum limit of this general indemnity shall be the value of the contract. This insurance shall be taken out and maintained throughout the term of the contract from the start of works until provisional acceptance by the client and shall comprise the following coverage: all-risk construction and assembly, removal of debris and wreck; machinery and equipment; natural risks; mutiny and civil disturbances; terrorism; extended maintenance; pre-existing elements (if any) and adjacent elements (if any). The indemnity amount per transport shall be, as a minimum, the maximum value of the carried goods. Transportation insurance shall be in force until the Client acknowledges the compliance to the equipment and/or materials included in the contracted works or installation. This insurance shall grant the Client the option to contract an advance loss of profit coverage (ALOP), if appropriate.
- Employer's Liability Insurance for all employees (comprising occupational or work injuries and occupational diseases), including temporary and permanent work disability and death, under the conditions determined by the laws in force for each case. The contractor is responsible to ensure that its sub-contractors keep the same coverages in force for their own employees.
- Compulsory Automobile Insurance for transporting goods or people under the contractor and/or sub-contractor responsibility in the conduct of their contractual obligations (whether or not the contractor and/or subcontractor is the owner of these vehicles), and complemented with an additional civil liability.
- Any other insurance or support that the Client could be obliged to take out in accordance with the agreed terms or due to the laws in force emanated by the administrative authorities.

The contracts between the Contractor and its sub-contractors shall include the obligation of the latter to undertake the liabilities assumed by the contractor regarding insurance responsibilities.

The contractor is obliged to request and control that each of the sub-contractors have their insurance policies fully in force, with the proper coverages related to the liabilities referred in this technical specification and also in the standard market practice.

The amounts paid by the insurance companies according to the insurance policies in force shall be used for repairing the caused damages and/or replacing the damaged goods or works, with the exception of the civil responsibility coverage, where the amounts will be paid to the beneficiary.

The Contractor takes on the obligation for the term of the contract to inform the Client about any event that affects the validity and the conditions of the insurance policies in force. In case of event subjected to be claimed, the contractor shall immediately notify the Client, whatever the nature, causes and scope of this event, by sending to the client a written report describing the occurred events.

In case of accident, any difference between the value of the damaged amount and the insurance settlement, regardless this difference is due to the deductibles effect, the insurance limits or lack of insurance coverage, the application of exceptions that are not common market standard, a under-insurance of the damaged goods, the unpaid of the insurance premium, or other circumstances analogous to the ones before, this difference shall be bear by the contractor except if the incident is caused by EDPR.

Before the start of the works and whenever requested by the Client, the Contractor and its subcontractors shall provide documentary evidence of the insurance contracts, contents and validity of the insurance policies mentioned in the previous paragraphs.

In case any company of the group EDPR will be object of a financing operation or any other social or financial operation that obliges it to modify the insurance coverage, or the addition or removal of additional beneficiaries, the contractor shall take all necessary steps to fit this new situation or additional coverage with the insurance company.

The required documentation shall be authenticated by the issuer company or, alternately, with a copy and the hardcopy of the insurance policy, the latter being returned to the contractor after being cross-checked by the Client. These insurance certificates shall establish a 30-day advance notification (or previous notice) about any change or cancellation of the coverage, not allowing any change or cancellation of the agreed terms and conditions throughout the coverage period without the prior consent of EDPR.

All the insurance policies referred above shall be contracted with insurance companies of adequate solvency.

The existence and validity of the insurance policies shall not limit, in any case, about the liabilities that the Contractor should bear according to the laws in force.

3.22. Liability

3.22.1. Pre-contractual liability

None of the established in these General Contracting Conditions, nor the actions, expenditure or activities which, respectively, the Contractor carries out in order to adapt to such provisions or to make or present a certain Bid, shall be or can be understood as creating any type of contractual or pre-contractual relation between the Client and the Contractor, which might lead to any type of liability or obligation of the Client.

Consequently, the Contractor expressly accepts that the Client shall take no liability and accept no obligation as a result of the request, presentation, analysis, completion, assessment or refusal of a certain Bid; the Client shall only be under those obligations and take those responsibilities as might be established in the Contract, if applicable.

In case the offer is withdrawn or revoked during its validity period (90 days), or after it has been accepted, the Contractor shall indemnify the Client against any damage and loss caused.

3.22.2. Contractual liability

The Contractor shall be liable towards the Client for any damage it causes or caused by its employees or any third parties for which it might be responsible, including its subcontractors, for the damage caused during the execution of the Contract to the Client, its employees, property, goods or rights. The abovementioned damages shall include those caused, as a result of the execution of the Contract, both due to actions taken and due to omissions. For the purposes of this clause, damage shall refer to any disturbance, incident, trouble and, in general, any losses that, as a result of the execution of the Contract, might occur in the work, performance and/or regular operation of the Client's installations.

The Client may otherwise provide for that, without prejudice to charging the resulting costs to the Contractor.

Furthermore, the Contractor shall be responsible for all expenses incurred by the Client with third parties, in those cases established in the Contract, in which, if the Contractor does not provide for them, the Client shall be entitled to contract them..

Without prejudice to all the referred above, the Contractor shall not be liable for indirect and/or consequent damage it causes, except if such damage results from serious fraud or negligence committed by the Contractor.

3.23. Certificate of satisfaction

The Contractor shall provide to the Client a complete Certificate of Satisfaction, including those by third parties, before the final payment.

If any complaint is made after the final payment, the Contractor shall indemnify the Client against the expenses it may have as a result of such a complaint.

3.24. Confidentiality

Without prejudice to the Confidentiality Agreement attached as Annex 2, the Contractor shall comply with this clause too.

The Contractor shall not disclose to any third parties, without the Client's previous consent in writing, the conditions under which the Client contracted or will contract the execution of the work or the provision of the service.

Unless otherwise stated in the Contract, all information exchanged between the Parties (both prior to and after the commencement date of the preparation or of the execution of the Contract) shall be considered as confidential and used solely for the purposes of the Contract. The said information shall not be disclosed to third parties by any means - whether oral, visual or in writing - unless previously and expressly authorized by the other party.

Each of the Parties shall ensure that the Confidential Information does not come to the knowledge of any other people than their employees, subcontractors, agents, representatives or consultants, who require such knowledge to ensure the appropriate fulfilment of the Contract or to comply with the tasks assigned to them. The Parties undertake to transfer the abovementioned obligation to all its employees. In addition, the Contractor takes on the obligation to include this in the Contracts signed with its subcontractors, namely those who are due to take on such confidentiality obligation, under the same terms of this Provision.

This confidentiality obligation shall not include any documents or information that had already been made public or disclosed to the market other than as a result of its disclosure having been made in breach of any confidentiality obligation.

If the Contractor is required by law, legal obligation, judicial, administrative or any other competent authority, the Contractor will notify the Client in advance, with the utmost urgency, to allow the Client to carry out the legal actions necessary to defend its interests, including the avoidance of the supply of the information, to the extent permitted by the law in force.

If the submission of the Confidential Information couldn't be avoided, the Contractor commits itself to only disclose that part of the Confidential Information strictly necessary to attend the requirement. Additionally, the Contractor must adopt the necessary measures to try that the recipient of the Confidential Information shall respect the confidential nature of the same, notifying the Client exactly about the part of the Confidential Information that has been disclosed.

After the termination of the Contract, each of the parties shall return to the other party any Confidential Information it may have or, if applicable, shall provide evidence of its elimination, expressly undertaking not to keep any copy of it.

3.25. Credit compensation

In case of non-compliance by the Contractor with any of the obligations taken in the Contract, which creates for the Client any economic liability or consequence, the Client shall be entitled to withhold and/or to compensate, up to the limit of said liabilities and/or expected consequences, any credits that are due, net and payable in favour of the Contractor, that are in its possession.

3.26. Assignment of contracts

The Contractor shall not assign this Contract, totally or partially, without the Client's previous approval in writing for that purpose. Without prejudice to the mentioned above, the provisions of the Contract shall respectively apply and be binding on the successors in title and assignees of the contracting parties.

Additionally, the Contractor shall not assign any of the economic, commercial or financial credits and rights arising out of the contract, nor perform any kind of Operation for which it uses the referred rights and credits.

3.27. Force majeure

None of the parties shall be considered responsible for delays in the execution of the works, or for not carrying them out, when this is due to circumstances that are beyond their control, namely those defined as Force Majeure.

Force Majeure Event means any event that meets all of the following criteria: (i) the event and its effects are not within the reasonable control, directly or indirectly, of the Party affected (and, in the case of Contractor, is beyond the control of its Subcontractors), (ii) the event and its effects are unavoidable or could not be prevented, overcome or removed by the reasonable efforts and due diligence of the Party claiming the Force Majeure Event and its subcontractors; (iv) the event and its effects do not result from such Party's negligence or fault or the negligence or fault of its subcontractors; (v) the event causes the Party claiming that a Force Majeure Event occurred, despite such Party's use of reasonable efforts and due diligence, to be actually, demonstrably and materially delayed in, or unable to, perform its obligations under this Agreement (for reasons other than economic hardship, including lack of money). Provided the event meets all of the criteria described above, Force Majeure Events shall include: natural disasters; landslides; drought; fire; flood; earthquake; hurricanes; tornados; tsunamis; perils of sea; volcanic activity; epidemic; war (whether declared or undeclared) or other armed conflict; acts of God or the public enemy; riot; explosions; civil disturbance; sabotage; strikes, lockouts or labor disputes (except for strikes, lockouts or labor disputes isolated to the Party claiming a Force Majeure Event); vandalism; terrorism or documented threats of terrorism; and blockades. Force Majeure Events shall not include: (a) labor or manpower shortages; (b) a failure of equipment or unavailability of spare parts, materials or equipment, in each case, that is not the direct or proximate result of acts of God, war, riots, civil disturbances, sabotage, or similar independent, identifiable Force Majeure Events; (c) sabotage by employees or any contractors, subcontractors or vendors of any tier of the Party claiming the Force Majeure Event, (d) acts or omissions of subcontractors, except to the extent such subcontractors, if they were a party hereto, would be able to claim a Force Majeure Event for the same, (e) any weather event or condition that is not abnormally severe for the period of time when, and the area where, such weather event or condition occurs; (f) a Party's financial inability to perform under this Agreement; (g) events that affect the cost of equipment or materials or changes in market conditions affecting the economics of either Party (including a change in commodity prices or increased inflation) or any other economic hardship (including lack of money); or (g) a change in Applicable Law.

The force majeure must be certified by Romanian Chamber of Industry and Commerce. The party affected by a case of force majeure shall report it to the other party, in writing, as soon as possible and never later than three (3) days, from the moment it gains knowledge of it, mentioning the cause, its estimated duration and the consequences for the contracted work, attaching the documents that serve as evidence of it.

Compliance with the obligations affected by the force majeure events shall be suspended for the duration of the said events and the parties shall not be liable for the consequences arising from them. After cessation of the force majeure event, the parties shall agree upon which measures are required to, as far as possible, recover the time lost, taking all measures within their reach so that the execution of all the Contract's obligations is re-established on the best conditions and with the least delay possible, after the cause has ceased.

Notwithstanding this, if the force majeure event was to be prolonged for a period over three months, any of the Parties is entitled to terminate the Contract.

The following cannot be invoked by the CONTRACTOR as force majeure causes:

1. Meteorological conditions or events that could reasonably have been predicted by the Contractor
2. Any shortage of manpower or materials
3. Any delay or failure in obtaining the materials
4. Any non-compliance or delay of any subcontractor.
5. Strikes, except for cases of general strikes in the sector, or lock-outs

3.28. Termination of the contract

Besides the causes established in the Contract, in any provision of these General Conditions and by the law, the following shall be considered as cause for termination of the Contract:

3.28.1. By the Client:

- a) When the Contractor is in breach of any of its obligations under the Contract or when the Contractor carries out any work that is non-compliant with any of the documents included in the Contract, or if it is performed in such a way that the quantity and quality of the work executed does not reasonably correspond to the amount of time spent for performing it and the Client is able to estimate, at its discretion, that the ordered work shall not be finished within the expected deadlines.

- b) For the frequent repetition of mistakes or defects in the execution of the contracted works.
- c) When the Contractor partially or totally assigns or transfers the services to subcontractors, going against the provisions of the corresponding section of the Contract.
- d) For interruption of the works for more than one (1) week, except when due to legitimate reasons which absolutely hinder the Contractor in continuing the work.
- e) For non-compliance by the Contractor with the provisions of labour laws, social insurance and its regulations or with Occupational Risk Prevention rules.
- f) For any use of the brand, the image, the distinctive symbols and/or the logos of the Client that is inadequate or non-compliant with the instructions given.
- g) For not taking out or not renewing the insurance policies under the terms established in these General Conditions.
- h) Any other non-compliance by the Contractor which may significantly affect the adequate execution of the Contract or that is established in it as a cause for termination.
- i) If the tenderer does not update its register in RePro (Suppliers Assessment Register), if applicable.
- j) Being involved in any legal transaction, regardless of the way it's used (sale or transfer of stocks or shares, mergers, divisions of companies or any other company operations or any other event, act or legal transaction) which brings about a significant change in the Contractor's shareholding or stockholding or any change in the Contractor's effective control, direct or indirect, or that the companies on which the Contractor depends or those that the Contractor controls.
- k) If the Contractor ceases to perform the activity.
- l) Any non-compliance with the obligations included in the provision 3.30 (Sanctions)

If any of the causes for termination stated in this section occurs, the Client shall be entitled either to order the fulfilment of the Contract or to terminate it. If the Client chooses to terminate the Contract, it shall inform the Contractor by means of a previous written notification given fifteen days before the date in which the termination is to become effective. Upon receiving such previous notification, the Contractor shall immediately stop its work, performing only the things required to protect the work already done in order to deliver it to the Client.

The above-mentioned is without prejudice to the indemnity for damages and losses originated by such termination of the Contract, which shall be deducted from any pending payment to be made to the Contractor, or which shall imply the loss of the security, which the Contractor may have had provided, being paid to the Client as its beneficiary, and, if deduction from pending payments or the security don't cover the indemnity for damages and losses, directly against the Contractor's assets.

The Client is entitled to unilaterally render the Contract ineffective, being solely required to notify the Contractor in writing thirty days in advance; in this situation, the Client shall pay for the work performed and other expenses incurred up to the termination of the Contract, as well as other costs which are reasonably incurred as a result of such termination; it shall not pay any amount for expenses such as loss of profits or compensation for damages and it shall maintain the retentions and guarantees corresponding to the work performed during the established period. The payment of this sum shall be considered as a total compensation and exclude any complaint for damages and losses, so the Contractor shall declare all amounts to be settled, closed and recompensed upon receiving the said amount, waiving the right to make any complaint against the Client.

3.28.2. By the Contractor:

1. Suspension of the works for longer than 5 weeks due to a cause attributable to the Client.
2. Unjustified lack of payment by the Client of two invoices, under the terms of the Contract and/or the present General Conditions.

The Contractor shall, in this situation, send a notification to the Client informing about the supposed non-compliance as well as its intention to terminate the Contract unless it is corrected. In case it is not corrected within a reasonable term, the Contractor shall be entitled to terminate the Contract, charging the Client for the works executed until that date plus an amount that equals 2% of the works still to be executed, corresponding such value to the total amount to be requested by the Contractor to the Client on concept of damages and losses for such termination in advance.

Furthermore, any of the parties is entitled to request the termination of the Contract in the case described in section 3.27 of these General Conditions due to force majeure events.

In the abovementioned cases, the Client shall be entitled to take possession of the works executed up to that date and keep all or some of the materials stored, partly manufactured or delivered, paying for them according to the price established in the Contract or, if not established, the price that both parties mutually agree upon or, if that is not possible, the price established by an expert's appraisal.
